108 Miners Killed in Czech Blaze

PRAGUE (AP) — Fire broke out in a Czechoslovakian coal mine in the Carpathian Mountains Friday night killing 108 miners, the official Czech news agency Ceteka reported.

The cause of the disaster is unknown. It occurred at the Dulka mine in the Ostrava Karvina coalfield.

Fire Spreads Rapidly

Ceteka said the fire spread rapidly. Rescue teams were rushed to the scene from the entire coal basin. They battled the blaze until the early hours this morning.

"In spite of superhuman efforts to save the trapped men, 108 miners lost their lives," the agency said.

The mine is in the town of Dolna Sucha, about 50 miles south of Ostrava, one of the larger towns of the Moravian section of Czechoslovakia.

Ceteka said representatives of the Czech Communist party central committee and government officials are at the disaster scene. The agency gave no further details.

Most Vital Section

The area in which Friday's disaster took place is the most important coal producing section of Czechoslovakia, accounting for about 80 per cent of the country's coal needs.

Ostrava, a city of about 200,000 close to the Polish border, is also the center of the Czech steel industry.

Mayor Appoints Mrs. Rougier as City Meter Maid

Appointment of Mrs. Doris Rougier of 306 Abruzzi Street as Kingston's first "Meter Maid" was announced today by Mayor Edwin F. Radel.

Mrs. Rougier started her trial period service this morning and will operate on a six-day basis during which all metered areas of the city will be checked.

Successful Elsewhere

"Meter Maids" have been tested and found successful in other cities, the mayor pointed out today in making the announcement.

He referred to the establishment of a "Meter Maid," a female police officer, for the purpose of checking violations regarding parking at metered and restricted parking areas.

Though the newly instituted "Meter Maid" will not be given any direct responsibility or jurisdiction over moving violations covered under the vehicle and traffic law, she will carry the authority of a special police officer, the mayor's statement continued.

The uniform worn by this new police woman will be basically

Suspect Kills Self Prior to FBI Quiz

MOAB, Utah (AP) — A former Marine shot and fatally wounded himself Friday night when FBI agents sought to question him about the murder of a Connecticut woman and the kidnapping of his daughter.

He was Abel E. Aragon, 35, an unemployed coal miner and father of five children from Price, Utah, where he had lived most of his life. Authorities said he was well liked and respected by residents there.

He died early today in a Moab hospital without shedding any light on the whereabouts of the girl, Denise Sullivan, 15, of Rockville, Conn.

"She's dead," Sheriff John Stocks said. "She must be."

Denise's mother, Jeanette Sullivan, 41, was shot to death last Tuesday night on a lonely desert road about 20 miles northwest of this community in southeastern Utah.

Mrs. Sullivan's friend, Charles Boothroyd, 55, of Hartford, Conn., was shot twice in the face but is recovering.

Aragon was spotted Friday night driving about 10 miles north of where the killing-kidnap took place.

He was one of several suspects and was sought only because the letters on his license plate, "CJ," were seen on the car of the killer.

"We were checking all CJ plates in Utah," said FBI spokesman Herbert Clegg.

Aragon had not been home for four days, authorities said.

Sheriff Albert Passic said Aragon had absolutely no police record and was a Navy Cross winner on Guam during World War II.

Clegg said, "Our agents spotted the car on the road, ordered it to pull over. Our agents got out and announced who they were and said they wanted to talk to him."

"He said, 'FBI? Prove it' and then placed a .22 caliber automatic pistol to his head and shot himself in the temple."

Sheriff Stocks said this morning, "We're trying to back track from his car now to find the girl."

A pair of shoes was found by the Colorado River, which runs through the area. They were similar to the red sneakers worn by Denise but Sheriff Stocks said he doubted whether they belonged to the girl.

Brinmire & Larios, consulting engineers of Kingston, retained by the town, presented the recommendation in its survey study of Glasco Water District.

Going to Village Board

The suggestion was that an engineering investigation of the water sources available to the Saugerties and Glasco area should be authorized as soon as possible due to the rapid expansion of the area and increased number of consumers.

Saugerties Town Board agreed that a representative of the

Newburgh Vows Changes, Defies New York and U.S.

Levitt's 'Yes' Divides Demos

NEW YORK (AP) — The city's powerful Democratic party was split wide open today on the choice of a candidate for mayor. The party faced a certain primary fight and a possible contest among Democrats in the fall election.

The schism developed when Wagner announced his intention to run for a third four-year term on his own conditions, with his own candidates and with or without the backing of the regular Democratic organization.

This angered the leaders, who credit themselves with having made Wagner what he is.

It also angered two members of Wagner's City Hall team, City Controller Lawrence E. Gerosa, who was dropped from the 1961 ticket, subsequently announced that he, too, would be a candidate for mayor.

City Council President Abe Stark, whom Wagner chose to run for controller, considered this a demotion and refused the spot on Wagner's ticket. Instead, he has announced for the borough president in the primary.

The POWER of FAITH

by Howard Brodie

AP Newsfeatures

Freedom and faith flowed from the pen of the mighty writer Fyodor Dostoevsky: the freedom of man's mind and being, and faith in Christ. He believed man's behavior was motivated by "freedom and self-assertion," and that his purpose "consists in proving to himself that he is a man and not a cog in a machine." His imprisonment, last minute reprieve from a firing squad, epilepsy and personal trials led him to deeper compassion and faith, rather than to cynicism and doubt. His writing grew with his years, with his last novel considered his best. His last words to his children were: "Have absolute trust in God... I love you, but my love is nothing in comparison with God's immense love for man, His creation."

Hoffa Warns Critics After 2-Term Victory

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—James R. Hoffa today advised his critics to get lost. He said he's whipped 'em and they might as well admit it.

Hoffa, 48, a one-time Detroit warehouseman, was elected overwhelmingly Friday to a second five-year term as president of the Teamsters, the nation's largest union, over only token opposition.

Hicks Wasted Time

"Seriously," Hoffa remarked later. "I think Bobby Kennedy, his brother the President, the secretary of labor, and the supposed Senate select committee ought to recognize now that the time and effort they've put in trying to destroy the Teamsters have completely failed. It was a waste of time."

Hoffa referred, of course, to President Kennedy, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, Labor Secretary Arthur J. Goldberg, and to the Senate Investigating Committee headed by Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark.

15 Scouts Report Adventurous Time On Canoe Trip

The 15 Boy Scouts and four Scout leaders who participated in the Saugerties District 100-mile canoe trip through Lake Champlain and Lake George arrived home on July 1, and reported an adventurous time.

The trip started at Whitehall, the birthplace of the American Navy. The nine canoes were launched on the Champlain canal and passed through the lock before entering the lake, Sunday, June 25; they landed at Fort Ticonderoga and were met at the beach by Sea Scouts and Boy Scouts who helped move the equipment from one lake to the other. In the evening the boys were guests on a visit to the Park.

On the Lake George trip the scouts camped on islands some nights and lived on the supplies carried in their canoes. During the nights on shore the boys cooked their own meals and kept camp, and had time to pass achievements for merit badges. Four boys qualified for the special one-mile swim award, Tom Westdorp, Jeff Ollinger, Mike Quick and Douglas Simmons.

When they arrived in the village of Lake George, they received a welcome from the Chamber of Commerce and were guests on a steamboat ride on the lake and a visit to Fort Henry. They received a certificate showing they had climbed nearby Prospect Mountain.

The boys who made this trip will receive a special neckerchief and an award from the National Council, Boy Scouts of America.

The trip was in charge of Robert Gardner, activities chairman for the Saugerties District, with Addison Burch, Charles Walton and Douglas Simmons as leaders. Scouts were Daniel Stevens and George Aplustill of Troop 32; Steven and Alan Gardner, Joel Walton, David Lewis, Tom Westdorp, Ed Pavlinik, Jeffrey Ollinger, Kenneth Wood, Mike Quick and Robert Burch of Troop 130; Ronald MacRae and Orman Leighton of Troop 138 and Jerry White of Troop 212, Kingston.

Flamboyant Finale

The Teamsters convention adjourned Friday night after a flamboyant finale to the five-day session. The approximately 2,000 delegates engaged in a noisy and colorful election session whipped up by a jazz band and such slogan "Go, go with Tony Pro" and "Boola, boola for Frank Matula."

Anthony (Tony Pro) Provenzano of Hoboken, N.J., and Frank Matula, of Los Angeles, re-elected respectively as union vice president and trustee, both have criminal records.

Hoffa, as everyone had predicted, was elected in a landslide. His only opponent, Milton J. Liss, president of Local 478, Newark, N.J., withdrew halfway through a tedious roll call vote. Only 15 delegates voted for him. Five abstained. Eventually, Hoffa was re-elected was made unanimous.

Hoffa emerged from the convention with possibly the broadest powers ever vested in a labor union leader and with the biggest salary, $75,000.

UAW Will Wind Up Proposals on Pact Next Week

Detroit (AP) — The United Auto Workers Union plans to complete next week presentation of its new contract proposals to the auto companies.

UAW Vice President Leonard Woodcock denied Friday the union was delaying progress in bargaining on specific demands by offering its proposals piecemeal in lengthy statements of policy.

No Devious Purpose

"We're spacing this out not for any devious purpose," he said. "We want an opportunity to have the information in the hands of our local union leadership as we present it."

Woodcock said most of the bargaining statements submitted so far deal with matters of interest only to UAW members who are being kept informed as to what we are trying to do in these negotiations.

Started June 28

Contract negotiations got underway at GM June 28, then on successive days at Ford and Chrysler, and on Thursday of this week at American Motors.

Seaton and Woodcock tangled Friday over the union's claim that mechanized production has cut down General Motors' work force.

The GM vice president for personnel said, "It seems the union is trying to create the impression that we have not been interested in creating new job opportunities."

Declaring this was not the case, Seaton said the trend in employment at GM has been upward in the past 10 years. Woodcock had said there had been a decline of 73,000 hourly rated workers at GM since 1955.

Seaton said an employment peak of 410,000 was reached in 1955 because the company had many temporary employees to meet a big demand for new cars.

His salary will increase annually to $150,000 if 20th exercises its options.

Fabian's full name is Fabian Forte.

Help From Police

MISSOULA, Mont. (AP) — Police service was extraordianary for a woman in distress at nightime. Mrs. Bob Miles of Missoula called the Police Department at 4 a.m. Friday. She told the desk officer she thought her car was running and would a patrolman be sent to turn the engine off.

A patrolman did. He also rang the doorbell and returned the woman her keys.

GLEN DOUGLAS, Scotland (AP) — Scotland's smallest school — only four pupils — is giving way to an arms depot.

It will be a sad leave-taking for the kids who enjoyed the school's specialties — outdoor classes and nature study every day. They will have to travel 10 miles to another school.

The site on Loch Lomondside is being cleared for a $19,600,000 arms store being built by the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO).

Dr. Schweitzer Will Head Summit Of Church Heads

LONDON (AP) — Dr. Albert Schweitzer, famed humanitarian and Nobel Peace prize winner, has agreed to be honorary head of a proposed summit peace conference of religious leaders, it was disclosed today.

Rabbi Maurice N. Eisendrath, president of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations, announced appointment of the famed 86-year-old medical missionary at the 12th International Conference of the World Union for Progressive Judaism.

Rabbi Eisendrath told delegates of 22 nations that Premier Khrushchev, President Kennedy and other world leaders appear further apart than ever in their negotiations.

It is the duty of religion, he said, to exert moral pressure to try to persuade the heads of state to subordinate self interest and hasten their negotiations so an accidental push of a button may not destroy the world.

The idea of a summit conference of religious leaders was proposed in 1959 by Rabbi Eisendrath after discussions with leaders of Islamic, Buddhist, Moslem, Hindu and Shintoist faiths as well as outstanding Christian churchmen.

Rabbi Eisendrath said he hoped to form an international organizing committee and expected the conference would be held by late 1962 or early 1963. He recommended Bombay as the summit site.

Marlboro Class Tours Weather, Air Center

The science class of the Marlboro Elementary Summer School toured the weather and air control center of the Dutchess County Airport Friday.

Included in the tour were demonstrations of weather recording instruments and flight control procedures.

The 19 children were accompanied by Mrs. Paul Georgini, Carl Giesler and Frederick Bennett.

Additional field trips have been scheduled to the Ford Motor Company Mawah, N. J., on July 14, Hayden Planitarian's Man in Space program on July 21, and Danskammer steam plant on Aug. 11.

Glen Fitzgerald, 18, of 17 Mary's Avenue, complained to police Friday that an unidentified automobile struck and damaged his 1955 car while it was parked on Broadway near Cornell Street. Police were told Fitzgerald's car was damaged on the left rear fender and headlight rims.

The father, Jesse Payton, 59, said he heard noises from the porch, loaded his 16 gauge shotgun and fired at a shadow on the porch screen. Police agreed the shooting was accidental.

Hold Your Stocks for A Continuing Bull Market

ROGER E. SPEAR

Q) "I only began to buy stocks last January, and up until May I was doing all right. Is what we have been through since that time a normal situation?"

A) It is not only normal, it's actually routine in stock market history.

If you have read this column for any length of time, I think you will recall my constant emphasis on the fluctuating nature of all stock investments. This applies not only to individual stocks but to the market as a whole. Nothing has developed, in my opinion, to indicate that what we have seen is more than a temporary setback in a continuing bull market.

The decline was triggered by an excess of unjustified enthusiasm on the part of investors who purchased a lot of stocks up to levels that were entirely unrealistic in terms of earnings trends and price-earnings multipliers.

M. T.

A) I have found no reason to change my favorable attitude toward Kerr-McGee. In spite of considerable dilution, earnings for the fiscal year just ended probably came close to $3 a share. For the present year, which is about counts, my guess would be about $4. I believe a conservative price-earnings multiple would be 15, which makes the old high of 60 look not unreasonable.

Villa Is Staying

PARIS (AP) — Henry Morgenthau Jr., former U.S. secretary of the treasury, won't have to pull down his Riviera Villa after all.

A court last year ordered the house at Saint-Jean Cap-Ferrat destroyed. A neighbor had brought suit against Morgenthau on grounds the sale contract for the land did not provide for building on it.

Now an appeals court has ruled that since Morgenthau can keep the villa by paying an indemnity to the neighbor. The assessment was not disclosed.

LONG TREK TO SAFETY

After an atomic bombing, so civil defense authorities say, no one is safe until he is 40 miles away. With the highways full of fugitives, how can the average man save himself? Customers at a Midwestern tavern decided, after discussion, that the only solution would be to walk. They determined to see for themselves how feasible escape in this manner might be.

Six men were driven at 5 a. m. to a countryside spot 40 miles away and told to hike back to the tavern. Three, all former soldiers, finished in 12 hours and 15 minutes. Two dropped out after 21 miles. A sixth, handicapped by a wooden leg, covered only five miles.

The test was under weather conditions which any refugees might encounter. First came a light rain, then a heavy downpour and finally 10 minutes of sleet. On the other hand, the hikers were especially favored. Their wives drove to meet them with coffee, fried chicken and fresh socks.

This small-scale test proved what most people would have guessed in advance, that unaccustomed walker will find a 40-mile quickstep almost impossible. Elderly folk, children and tired housewives, who would constitute a considerable part of the dispossessed, would not be able to make it. All of which constitutes one more on the list of excellent reasons for unremitting effort to forestall nuclear warfare.

A PLUG FOR WORK

Nikita Khrushchev's emotional Alma Ata speech, in which he threatened that by 1970 the Soviet Union would nudge the United States out of the number one spot on the roster of nations, has wishful-thinking overtones. Nevertheless, he did say one thing worth paying some attention to.

Appealing to his people to "work, work, work," Khrushchev said that labor "is the source of the wealth of society and of every man." That cannot be disputed. It is one of the points on which capitalism and communism are in agreement. And it is worth noting that work has been a prime factor in making America great.

Even so, we cannot afford to blink the fact that our attitude toward work seems to be undergoing a change. More and more of us appear to be developing a yen to join a class which Khrushchev specifically denounced, "those who try to make use of the goods created by the people to lead a parasitic life."

That was a mouthful, one to be pondered even though its source is given more to mouthfuls of wind than of wisdom. Parasites could do as much again, even to the United States.

LICENSE LUNACY

The National Safety Council and other agencies long have campaigned for uniform traffic laws across the country. The ever-increasing volume of motor traffic threading across state lines obviously heightens the need for standardized regulations.

Once that standardization is achieved, and the sooner the better, there ought to be speedy effort to develop complete reciprocity among the 50 states in the matter of drivers' licenses. Failing that, good argument could be made for issuance of a federal driver's permit valid everywhere in the nation.

With 1 in 5 Americans moving each year —many from state to state—there is nothing quite so silly as compelling competent, tested drivers to keep retaking quite elemental examinations.

Regular physical checkups are of course essential. But much of the official energy now devoted to routine, almost automatic testing of already properly licensed drivers might well be devoted to more effective traffic law enforcement.

WHAT, ON RADIO?

When one travels on the road he might turn on the radio to listen to something. What he hears for miles and miles is Rock-n-Roll or hillbilly music, or perhaps a Polka in areas where there are Poles or the crooning of a hoarse Calypso singer or the terrible vocalizing of a woman who has cultivated what is called a "sultry" voice.

Then comes what is called news. It is the reading of short, crisp bulletins which may give some indications of what is happening. The best of news reporting has moved from radio to television. However, the news is a relief from the music and therefore is of some value.

You might ask, why listen? It grows on one. I generally turn on good music while I work. By good music, I mean such as has survived time and taste like Mozart, Bach and so on. Sometimes intermingled with such offerings are some modern novelties which may prove interesting for the moment or some which may last a little longer, perhaps half a century or so.

Just now, up in the woods, my radio is blasting an awful Polka that would have driven Paderevski to change his citizenship. It is a Polka written by an American with a trifle of jazz in the rhythm and perhaps a bit of hillbilly in its overtones. It is a chop suey, a goulash, a rubbish.

Radio program planners believe that they know what the public taste is. Actually, the public did not have such bad taste until they listened to these efforts at musicalizing on radio. Back in the days of Williams and Walker, that grand team of vaudevillians, there used to be what were then called "coo-shooters." They were singers who produced music in what way regarded as the Negro idiom. It was good listening although not quite as exciting as the sentimentalities of Gus Edwards. Even today, we are singing "School Days," and a tear comes to the eye. I have even heard "Sweet Adeline" sung by a barber shop quartette and the audience went wild.

The QXR theory of programming is delightful and when FM is used, it justifies the existence of radio. I am told that several stations in various parts of the country are using the QXR format and are doing well financially which only goes to show that nobody can be an absolute authority on public taste. Good music is nowadays stylish.

There is considerable selfishness in the talk about what the public desires. It is like the advertising agency's man who objected to the use of the name of Abraham Lincoln because the Lincoln is a competing car. Such brilliance we can do without.

Radio can still be very useful, particularly as so many use it in their cars. That has not yet been invaded by television. In the current congressional investigation of radio and television, much has been said on both sides which is more excitement than mature judgement. First of all, it must be recognized that there are no private property rights in the air. When we speak of a network, we refer to a private business which syndicates acts, shows, and whatever to stations scattered over the country. It is true that the newscasts own some stations but most of them are not so owned. Many radio stations are owned by newspapers or by publishing syndicates which also own newspapers. Some are owned solo.

At this point it needs to be made clear that the ownership of a radio or television station does not give anyone the right to do anything about it. The air-waves are owned by the government of the United States which has exclusive authority over them. The station-owner is licensed by the government to use a governmental air-wave. The final decision as to what may appear on the air-waves rests with an agency of the government, the Federal Communications Commission which has, on the whole, behaved itself surprisingly well. It has been moderate in its rules concerning censorship. It has not interfered too much with the conduct of stations or networks. While occasionally a network manager or an advertising agent would like to forget where the authority over radio and television rests, most of the stations obey the rules and regulations, even if their programming represents immaturity and bad taste.

Children Must Be Taught Exhilaration of Work

MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Dear Mrs. Lawrence:

Our 14-year-old girl's Saturday morning chore is cleaning the upstairs bathroom. But it always takes such pushing and arguments to get her going at it that I've been doing it myself for the past month. My husband says this is spoiling her. But this is what you've advised, isn't it? I'm sure I remember your writing that we shouldn't force children to do chores they resent.

ANSWER: Whoa, just a minute here. We release a child from a chore he hates, not to provide him with idleness but to provide him with a job he can enjoy. So I suggest that if you are going to continue to take on the bathroom Saturday mornings, you ask your daughter to plan and prepare Saturday evening supper.

This seems to be the time to explain my reason for believing it wise to release a child from a chore he resents. We relieve him of the hated job to protect him against developing an undesirable attitude toward all work. All of us, adults or children, who are forced to do chores we hate in week and in week out can begin to think of all work as basically unsatisfying—a meaningless actlessness exchanged for the right to exist.

That was a mouthful, one to be pondered even though its source is given more to mouthfuls of wind than of wisdom. Parasites could do as much again, even to the United States.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) —

U. S. Chamber of Commerce

headquarters in Washington puts out a constant stream of press releases, pamphlets and propaganda—the general tone of which is that everything the government does is wrong.

Even its President, Richard Wagner admits that the Chamber makes its statements for Monday papers so that everyone will know what it is against for the coming week.

It is most surprising therefore to find that none of the experts at the Chambers conference on business outlook for the second half of 1961 have anything very tough to say against the government as a whole or the Kennedy administration in particular.

THE IS IN MARKED CONTRAST to what AFL-CIO executive committee members had to say at their Unity House, Pa., mid-year meeting. When President Kennedy sent them a nice letter saying that the national economy is moving toward an era of expanded growth, they expressed the belief that many of the Kennedy programs won't be activated, so they will have no effect on the business outlook.

Overall, however, he expects the economy to move into new high ground, which will be shared by all major sectors of business. This isn't much of a complaint against government.

James C. Kelly, executive vice president, American Machine Tool Builders Assn., says: "Business is waiting to see what the outlook will be on taxes before planning its capital expansion." But he thinks the cyclical rise will be milder than in previous periods of economic recession.

Union-Fern Filing For Reorganization

Union-Fern, Inc., furniture chain with a store on Wall Street, Kingston, yesterday filed for reorganization under Chapter 11 of the bankruptcy law in U. S. District Court in Utica.

Bankruptcy Referee John J. Ryan approved a petition in Albany restraining creditors from action until a further order has been issued.

Charles Fabiano, local manager, is out of town until Monday and could not be reached for comment on the situation.

In the petition filed under four separate corporations, Union-Fern lists assets of $374,624 and liabilities of $2,564,211. The restraining order approved by Ryan permits the firm to continue business as debtor-in-possession.

In its petition the firm which operated stores in the Albany area for more than 60 years lists two reasons for the reorganization petition:

A lag in customer demand common to the furniture industry.

A shift in buying habits from downtown locations.

Julius Goodman, Union-Fern president, issued the following statement:

"Chapter 11 proceedings were entered into to provide the corporation with a means of realigning its structure along more modern lines of retailing."

"A prime objective is to consolidate all Union-Fern stores in the Capital District into the new warehouse showroom in Menands."

The proceedings now entered into will allow the corporation to divest itself of all other real estate holdings in the capital district, as well as others that it may choose to, eliminating excessive taxes and maintenance charges.

"It is the intention to pay all creditors 100 per cent. The Menands warehouse showroom store will continue to be open from 10 to 9 daily and on Saturday from 10 to 5, with all customer services maintained."

Two Will Close

Union Fern stores in Amsterdam and Troy have been closed recently and stores in Schenectady and Saratoga will soon be closed under the reorganization plan.

Albany store was closed when the new Menands warehouse showroom was opened last fall.

Stores in Kingston, Utica, Poughkeepsie, Glens Falls and Pittsfield remain open.

Lee and LeForestier, Troy law firm, represents Union-Fern.

Moscow to reverse its position and "join the United States and the United Kingdom in their determined efforts to bring an end to the testing of nuclear weapons."

Soviet Premier Khrushchev has sought to merge the nuclear test ban talks with a proposed new multilateral conference on general disarmament. President Kennedy has rejected this proposal.

The two powers appear to be engaged in a campaign to fix the blame for failure of the prolonged Geneva talks, but neither will admit the conference has come to a dead end. Technically, it still is in session.

The Soviet note was presented to U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson in Moscow Wednesday and made public by the Soviets Friday.

At about the same time the U.S. reply was announced, an influential Republican senator told the Senate the United States can no longer delay resumption of its own weapons testing program.

Sen. Styles Bridges, R-N.H., said that during the almost three years that nuclear weapons tests have been suspended and the Geneva talks carried on, the Soviet Union may have gone ahead in secret on development of a neutron bomb—a completely new type of nuclear weapon.

Bridges is chairman of the Senate GOP Policy Committee.

Officials say privately the United States is reluctant to resume nuclear weapons tests, fearing it would subject the country to severe criticism throughout the world.

Predict Drought Will Continue In Great Plains

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Continued high temperatures and short rainfall will hold in the drought-ravaged area of the Great Plains through July, it was predicted Friday as 32 more counties in three states were added to disaster rolls.

Wayne C. Palmer, U.S. Weather Bureau climatologist in Washington, said serious droughts seldom are ended in July, adding that long-range forecasts show a continuation of the high-heat, low-rainfall squeeze that is bringing woe to farmers and stockmen.

Palmer said precipitation for the 10 months to June 1 was less than half of normal for the drought territory. He added that conditions were aggravated by a hot June sun that soaked up what ground moisture there was.

It would have required normal rainfall, plus one inch, for the area to have held its own against the heat, Palmer reported.

The new disaster declarations brought to 139 the number of counties in six states eligible for emergency federal aid. These included 53 in North Dakota, the hardest hit; 35 in Minnesota, 20 in eastern Montana, 17 in South Dakota, 11 in Wisconsin and 3 in Wyoming.

Is There Anyone Who Doesn't Like Tasty Ice Cream?

Everyone loves ice cream. That is, almost everyone. It is the dessert that is relished the world over.

Ice cream can also be said to be one of the oldest kinds of dessert. It was known to the Chinese more than 2,000 years before Christ was born.

But in some ways it is very new. For instance, the first ice cream cone was introduced at the St. Louis World's Fair in 1904.

All ice cream cones until a few years ago tapered at the bottom or were cone-shaped. But today, more than half are the cup kind. They became popular when used by the soft-served ice cream stands which sprang up after World War II.

Tasty ice cream has been a favorite dessert in Europe dating back to Alexander the Great's time. Marco Polo, Charles I and other famous persons played a part in popularizing it.

George Washington served ice cream at Mount Vernon. He bought a "cream machine for making ice" when he was in Philadelphia attending a convention. He enjoyed to sit on the broad veranda of his home overlooking the Potowmac River and eat ice cream.

—Weldon D. Woodson

Dolly Madison introduced ice cream to the White House. The ice cream "mix" was placed in a metal pot which in turn was put in a large pan. A mixture of salt and ice was piled around the pot. The entire contraption was then picked up and shaken until the ice cream was of the desired thickness.

A housewife in 1846 gave ice cream eaters a boost when she invented the hand-cranned freezer. A Baltimore produce dealer named Jacob Fussell in 1851 established the wholesale ice cream business in the United States. He used hand-cranned freezers.

The first commercially successful continuous-process freezer was developed about 1926. This discovery enabled mix to be fed into one end, and ice cream to be poured out the other.

Each person on an average in the United States eats 42 pints of ice cream a year. It can truly be said that Americans are a nation of ice cream fanciers.

Lots of Peculiar Things Happen As Gannet Makes His Deep-Sea Dive

Gannets are large white birds with black-tipped wings and are among the best skin divers in the world. They don't dive for pleasure as we do. They dive for food.

This sea diving bird climbs up in the air to heights of 50 or 60 feet. Then it circles around and around until it sights a fish swimming in the water below. Only then does it start its dive.

As the gannet starts its downward plunge several amazing things happen. Its nostrils close so no water can get into the head. A transparent film over the eyes lets the bird see under water but keeps the ocean water out.

Even the focus of the eye changes from farsighted to close as it nears the target.

The long, slender wings stiffen and guide the bird as it plummets downwards. Then the gannet hits the water and air sacs or spaces that are connected with the lungs expand and soften the fall. Now the webbed feet propel it deep into the water, going down 90 feet or more. The gannet's strong bill catches and holds the fish crude nest of seaweed and grasses on a high rock ledge.

This is one bird that likes company. Thousands of gannets sometimes use the same ledge.

Bird Rock and Bonaventure in the Gulf of St. Lawrence are used every year. Small islands off the British Islands also serve as nesting spots for many gannets.

Gannets follow schools of herring and other fish, and the fisherman follow the gannets. There are some fishermen who wait until the gannets arrive. Only then will they get out their fishing gear and go after the herring.

The gannet is a powerful

Your Valuable Rock Hunt Can Begin Today

Do you like treasure hunts? You'll find some rocks are so soft you can scratch them with your fingernail. Others are so hard even a knife won't dent them. Some, like mica, can be peeled off in layers. Some are brittle and will break or chip easily. A few may even bend a bit one way or the other without breaking.

Colors of course will help you to identify many rocks. You almost feel as if you are searching for gold. And perhaps you will find a few grains of gold dust in some stream near your home. Or maybe a small vein of coal will be discovered as you chisel out some choice specimens of rock.

Trading rocks with other collectors is part of the fun of this treasure hunt too.

The best place to start looking for rocks is right in your own back yard. Next visit all the new buildings going up in your neighborhood.

Carry a sack to bring your rocks home in. Each rock should be carefully wrapped in a newspaper to keep it from scratching against other rocks.

Carry a small pad and pencil to write down anything interesting about the rock, such as where and when you found it. A hammer and chisel are handy but not necessary.

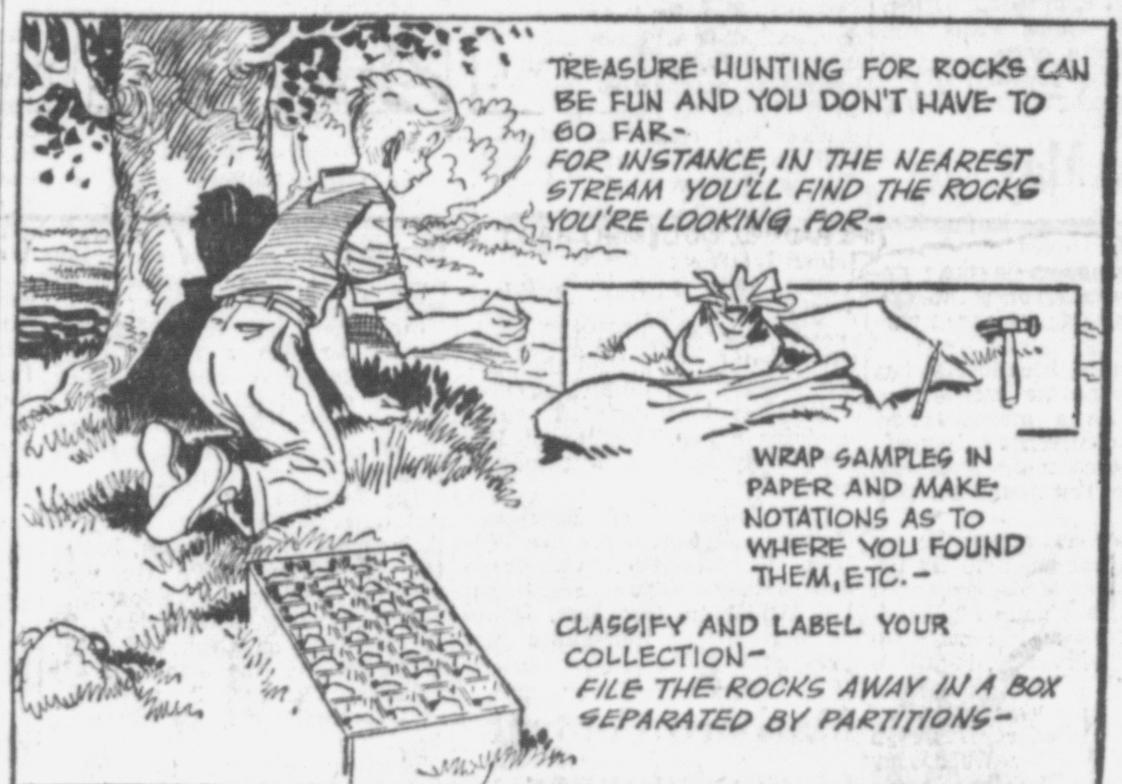

Identifying your collection of rocks and minerals is the next step. Your library is full of books that will help you to get started.

Wedding Arrangements Are Made by Bride and Her Mother

Q.—Will you kindly settle a very important question of etiquette for me? My daughter is to be married in a few months. Her intended mother-in-law expects me to include her name on the invitations (her husband is dead). She says it will be a slight to her if her name is not on the invitations. I feel she has no right to expect such a thing or even tell us what to do in making wedding plans. I say all arrangements should be made by my daughter and me. Please let me know if I am right?

A.—To put your name on the invitations would be incorrect, and she has no right to interfere with the wedding plans which are solely up to you and your daughter.

Seconding Her Son's Invitation

Q.—Will you please tell me if it is still customary for a mother to second her son's invitation to a young lady whom he has invited to his house for a weekend? If so, will you kindly suggest what to write to a perfect stranger?

A.—Yes, you must second your son's invitation. Simply write and say, "Dear Mary, (or Miss Smith if she is no longer in her teens) John tells me that he has invited you to come and spend the weekend of the tenth at our house. I hope you will come and I am looking forward with pleasure to meeting you."

Saying Good Morning

Q.—In our office a few of the girls have been discussing who should greet the other when entering the office in the morning. Since the girls come in separately, do you think the ones entering or the ones already seated and working should say good-morning first? Is there any definite rule concerning this?

A.—There is no rule, but it is usually the one entering who says good-morning first.

UN in Stalemate On Kuwait Issue

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Security Council attempts to settle the explosive Iraq-Kuwait dispute wound up in stalemate today as a Soviet veto killed a British move for the United Nations to guarantee the sheikdom's independence.

A counter bid by the United Arab Republic to demand immediate withdrawal of British troops guarding the little nation's border with Iraq was rejected by the 11-nation council. Only the U.A.R., the Soviet Union and Ceylon supported it.

Britain still has a force of nearly 5,000 in Kuwait, however, bolstered by air and naval support.

Despite the deadlock, the council will continue in a watchdog role in the dispute which threatens Middle East peace. Council President Leopoldo Benites of Ecuador said the council would go back into session at once if developments warranted.

Cape Man's Conviction Stays*Appeals Court Upholds Model Regents Prayer

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The brief, non-sectarian prayer the Board of Regents has recommended for use in the public schools is constitutional, the state's highest court says.

A group of taxpayers of Union Free School District 9, New Hyde Park, Nassau County, has challenged the use of the prayer in the schools on the ground that it conflicted with the U.S. Constitution, which decrees separation of state and church.

But the Court of Appeals held Friday, in a 5-2 decision, that the prayer was constitutional.

The framer of the Constitution, Chief Judge Charles S. Desmond said, "could not have meant to prohibit mere professions of belief in God for, if that were so, they themselves were violating their rule when and after they adopted it."

Other major decisions:

MURDER — The court unanimously upheld the conviction of Salvatore (Cape Man) Agron, 17, sentenced to death for the knifings of two other teenagers in a playground during a wave of youthful violence in New York City in the summer of 1959. But, by a 6-1 majority, the court reversed the conviction of Luis Antonio (Umbrella Man) Hernandez, 18, also condemned to death, and ordered a new trial. The court held that Agron had done the actual stabbings and that there was no evidence Hernandez contributed directly to the deaths.

NEWSPAPERS—The court held that the books and files of the Triborough Bridge and Tunnel Authority were not public records. The New York Post took the case to court after Robert Moses, chairman of the authority, refused to open its books on the Flevie Bradow, 21, of 42 Rawine Street, was fined $10 for operating a car with inadequate brakes. Ruth B. Fatterino, 23, of 170 First Avenue, New York City, was fined $10 for failing to comply with a signal at a railroad crossing, but the payment of fine was suspended.

William Hayman, 29, Box 474 Route 4, Kingston was fined $5 for operating a car with a faulty exhaust, and Stephen M. Zang, 20, of 83 West Chestnut Street, was fined $5 for driving against traffic on a one-way street.

Fines of $10 were paid by the following, charged with speeding: Davis Gale, 44, of 3 North Randolph Avenue, Poughkeepsie; Juanita Dixon, 49, Hurley; George C. Dixon, 49, Hurley; Doris Sarkin, 45, of 222 Hurley Avenue; Joseph Mula, 17, Neighborhood Road, Lake Katrine.

A charge of operating an unregistered motor vehicle lodged against Warren Dawson, 27, of 79 Chambers Street, was dismissed.

JCS Is Omitted From JFK Talk, Brush Off Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Omission of the Joint Chiefs of Staff from a conference today on the Berlin and German problems raises anew the question of whether they are being pushed into second place as President Kennedy's military advisers.

Kennedy arranged to confer at his Cape Cod home with Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Gen. Maxwell Taylor, recently named Kennedy's personal military representative.

Normally, it might be expected that the military chiefs, or at least Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, their chairman, would be included in such a high level conference.

However, the White House view was understood to be that this is just one of a series of meetings on the Berlin crisis, that such meetings do not always include representatives of the JCS. Sources familiar with Lemnitzer's thinking disputed a suggestion that omission of the military chiefs or Lemnitzer means they are being brushed aside in favor of Taylor, an outspoken critic of the JCS system.

These sources said the President is aware of the joint chiefs' views on possible military measures in the Berlin situation. They noted that Lemnitzer sat in on the recent National Security Council meeting at which possible steps for dealing with the renewed Soviet threat were discussed.

Veterans' Rights, Benefits Listed

Bonus—An article which appeared in this column a few weeks ago concerning the World War I Federal bonus prompted a number of inquiries about it. The WWI Federal bonus was known as adjusted service compensation. It was paid to WWI veterans who made application for it. Loans were permitted for a time on adjusted service certificates. In 1936 adjusted service bonds in the amount of $50 each were issued in place of adjusted service certificates. Inquiries concerning the issuance and redemption of adjusted service bonds may be made to the Chief, Division of Loans and Currency, Treasury Department, Washington 25, D. C. Inquiries about loans on adjusted service certificates may be directed to the Finance Officer, Veterans Benefits Office, Veterans Administration, Washington 25, D. C.

Insurance—There is no longer free insurance coverage for U.S. Armed Forces personnel on active military or naval duty. Free insurance coverage was stopped by the Servicemen's and Veterans' Survivor Benefits Act of 1956. Before this act was passed, Armed Forces personnel who entered the service on or after June 27, 1950 were automatically granted $10,000 free indemnity coverage. This free insurance ended December 31, 1956.

Legislation—The U. S. House Representatives has approved a measure, H.F. 879, which would increase compensation rates for veterans with service-connected disabilities by an average of about 9.2 per cent. The present rate of compensation ranges from $19 for 10 per cent through $100 for 50 per cent to $225 for 100 per cent. The range of compensation rates under H.F. 879 would be from $20 to 10 per cent through $106 for 50 per cent to $245 for 100 per cent. This measure also contains increases for seriously disabled veterans receiving statutory awards. Veterans now receiving $309 would get $335, $359 would get $385, $401 would get $435, $450 would get $500 and $600 would get $700. Additional benefits would be paid where eligibility exists. Moreover, these rates are on a wartime basis.

The House Committee on Veterans Affairs has reported a bill, H.R. 2417, which would increase monthly rates to eligible parents and children of servicemen and veterans whose death was attributable to service-connected reasons to an increase of 10 per cent in monthly rates of their dependency and indemnity compensation. This legislation pertains only to children and parents. It does not intend to directly affect widows. H.R. 2417 presently is pending before the House of Representatives.

Questions about the rights and benefits of veterans, servicemen or their dependents may be submitted for individual attention to the New York State Division of Veterans Affairs and the Ulster County Veterans Service Agency at 32 Main Street, Kingston, N. Y.

School Costs Are Explained to Two Clubs at Lunch

The 1961-1962 budget of the Kingston School System (Consolidated) was the subject of an illustrated lecture presented by Franklin A. Hazard, assistant superintendent of schools, at the Thursday noon luncheon of the Kingston Kiwanis Club.

Photography for the slides was accomplished by Warren Russell, while the art department of the school system furnished the necessary art projects.

Local pictures emphasized the various items of expense found in the operation of the school system, while a graph with a silver dollar as its basic idea produced the division into which the tax dollar is spent for maintenance and progress of the local schools.

An unusually large attendance was present due to the presence of the Kingston Lions Club as guests of the Kiwanians.

Benson A. Krom, a member of the local Board of Education and also the Kiwanis Club, was program chairman for the day and introduced speaker Franklin A. Hazard.

day's except that the result is the opposite.

Sherman Stearns, another old-time expert whose name appears on most of the major trophies sat West.

North and South were playing a fairly well recognized convention. The jump raise of partner's opening two bid shows trump support and a horrible hand.

Hence, when North jumped to four hearts and South went right to seven, Sherman could mark South with just about the hand he actually held, a heart suit headed by ace, king and no slide losers.

Sherman knew something else about South. He was a strict percentage player and would never finesse for a queen with nine trumps unless he assumed a sure thing.

With all this in mind Sherman had no problem with his opening lead. He put the deuce of hearts on the table and hoped.

Everything worked out perfectly. East produced the jack of trumps. South won, thought a while, cashed the ace of diamonds, ruffed his small diamond to get to dummy, led a heart and finessed. Sherman made his queen and set the hand.

Tailor Sprinkler To Type of Lawn

By MR. FIX
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Take a look at some of the sprinklers operating on lawns around your neighborhood before buying one of your own. These devices last for years with a minimum of care so make a proper choice the first time around.

Under the circumstances it might be wise to spend a little more than you intended if the sprinkler is one that you feel will really be efficient.

Hose Limited

A hose alone just won't work when it comes to extensive watering. And a hose and nozzle are little better.

Next best is the stationary sprinkler, often a brass tube in circular form that's been perforated with dozens of holes. This will cover a circular area but very unevenly. It needs frequent moving.

Next is the sprinkler with several revolving arms. It covers a wider area but that circular pattern cuts off corners.

There are some revolving sprinklers that cover a square area. Some of these even have controls for setting the size of the area. But the area covered is generally small.

The oscillating sprinkler seems the most efficient so far. It consists of a single arm that swings back and forth distributing water in a rectangular pattern. It can be set to oscillate a full 180 degrees or only 90 degrees. The latter is important if you wish to set the sprinkler at the base of a building or the edge of a sidewalk. There is less overlapping with this type than with revolving sprinklers.

Another sprinkler consists of nothing more than a length of flat plastic tubing that's been perforated on one side. Attached to a hose it emits a fine spray of water in a narrow rectangular pattern. The pattern can be carried around a corner.

This type needs to be left out over a long period but is quite efficient. For narrow tree lawns there's nothing like it.

Maintenance

There's little involved in maintaining sprinklers. Keep them clean. Mud can clog up the tiny holes. Replace washers on all fittings every season, often if there are signs of leaking around fittings.

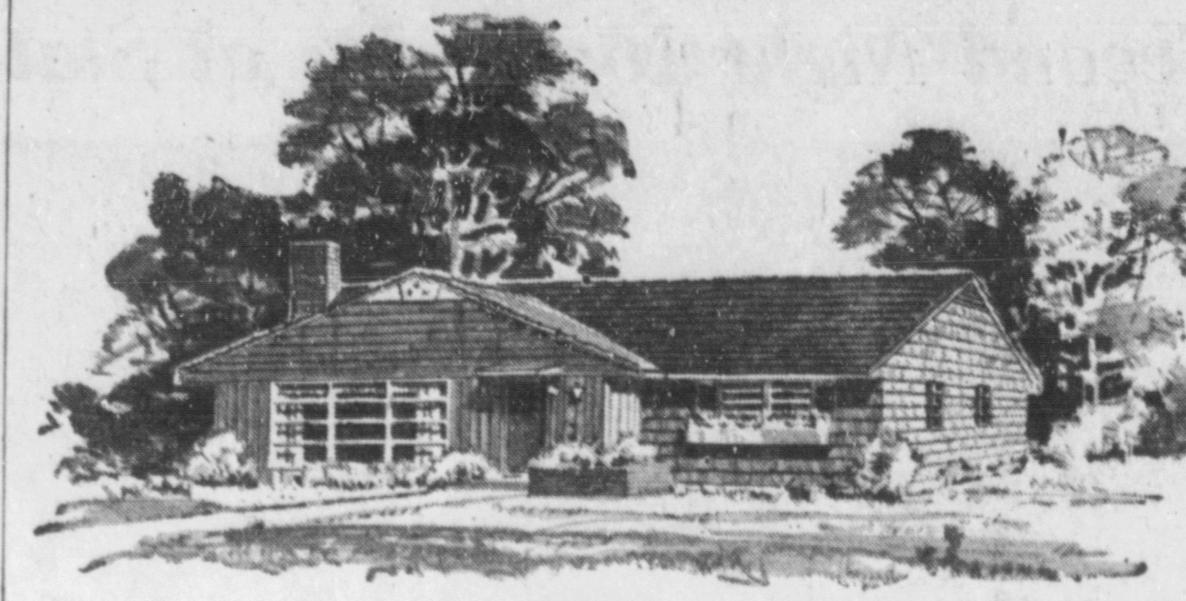

Some sprinklers have a tiny screen fitting to keep out dirt. Remove this and clean it occasionally.

Drain a sprinkler before putting it away. And in the fall make especially certain that there is no water in the sprinkler (or hose, too) before storing. Freezing will ruin parts.

Elected by Senate

Only U.S. vice president ever elected directly by the U.S. Senate was Richard Mentor Johnson. In the 1836 election, no candidate for the vice presidency received a majority of votes of the electoral college and the decision was left to the Senate.

The shop handles books, stationery and religious articles and has a rental library.

New Plans For Home Show Dining Room and Snack Bar

(By Associated Architects)

How many homes have you seen whose rooms were merely a series of cubicles put together without any apparent thought of "feeling" for the interior?

In today's home plan by Associated Architects, the feeling is one of airy openness, which not only makes full use of the interior living area, but also of natural lighting.

If you look at the accompanying floor plan you'll see exactly what I mean. The dining room and kitchen have practically no wall separation, and the living room connects directly with the dining room and kitchen by means of brief halls.

To light these rooms there are oversize windows in the dining and living rooms (the latter has a window wall) and a cheerful window directly over the double kitchen sink.

The effect is one of roominess and good lighting that you'd expect to find in a big home. Yet, with its two large bedrooms "The Cameron" occupies the compact space of not much more than 26 by 38 feet.

Separating kitchen and dining rooms is a snack bar, useful for quick meals and children's breakfasts. It helps to keep the burden from the dining room proper, leaving it ready at all times for more formal meals.

How Many Windows?

How many windows does a house need? The answer given by the Small Homes Council of the University of Illinois is to provide glass area in excess of 20 per cent of the floor area of each room. One way to have the desired number of windows without reducing wall area for furniture placement is to use a horizontal strip of windows high in the wall.

All One Color

It is still good decorating practice to paint walls and woodwork all one color. Furthermore, using the same color on walls and woodwork of a small room makes the room look larger. It's advisable also in rooms where the woodwork is not well placed. By making the woodwork blend with the surrounding wall, its deficiencies are less noticeable.

For Nail Drivers

If nails are too long for the boards you are nailing together, drive them in at an angle. This also usually produces a stronger joint.

Combs for Brushes

About the best way to remove hardened paint from the base of paint brush bristles is with a comb. There are special metal brush combs made for this job.

Legion Juniors Stop Highland Nine, 12-3

Ferraro Earns Win; Vince Smedes Wallops Four Straight Safeties

Mike Ferraro and Vince Smedes combined their talents in leading the Bob Nadler Legion Juniors to a 12-3 triumph over Highland last night at Dietz Stadium. The victory left the Kingston club unbeaten in Ulster County competition.

Ferraro vacated his short-stop post and took a turn on the mound with good results. He allowed only one hit and struck out 12. He walked eight and his erratic control kept him in hot water most of the evening.

Smedes was the hitting hero. He socked two homers, a triple and double in four trips while scoring four times. First baseman Rick Broberg and third sacker Ron Secreto had three safeties each off the slants of Fred Ellis, Highland High star hurler.

Ellis was cocked early. He surrendered three runs in the first inning and six more in the second. From then on it was simply a rout.

The local club will entertain New Paltz on Wednesday night at the stadium. The winner of the county tourney will participate in the district competition.

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—Buster Cupit, a little-known player from Fort Smith, Ark., paced the field into today's third round of the $30,000 St. Paul Open Golf tournament, hopeful of warding off challenges from his tightly bunched competitors.

Cupit shot 67 to hit 133, 11 under par, at the end of 36 holes Friday. He was only a stroke up on Johnny Pott of Shreveport, La., while hot-putting Dave Hill of Denver was at 135.

Pott, the hottest player on the tour at present after pocketing $5,600 in the past two weeks, began to gain favor as competition moved into the third round.

Jack Fleck, former National Open champion at 136, also is regarded as a strong contender.

Gene Little, current National Open titlist, is five strokes off the pace. Defending champion Don Fairfield is eight shots back at 141.

HAZARDOUS HORSEPLAY—A speeding boat is no place for clowning, capers or even standing up while changing seats. A sharp turn could throw passengers into the water.

America Afloat

Skipper Is Responsible for Almost Everything in Boating

BY WM. TAYLOR McKEOWN
Newspaper Enterprise Asso.

"What are my responsibilities?" a new boat owner wrote me recently. "Sure, I'm captain of my ship—all 15 feet of her—so I'm burdened with the safety and welfare of my wife and offspring crew. But what else should I know?"

A boat may seem a lot like a car. But they are very different—no brakes, a stern that swings around instead of the bow when the boat is steered, a sensitivity to winds, waves, and rock-bottomed water, and no carefully marked highways to drive along.

So first the boatman is responsible for learning everything possible about the capabilities and operation of his craft, plus weather and water threats of the area where he'll want to cruise. Then, even before he heads out, he must know both the legal and traditional requirements.

Equipment—Power boats must have registration numbers issued by the state or Coast Guard. Check with a marine dealer for instructions. Both inland and coastal pleasure boats need life preservers for each person aboard, approved fire extinguisher and navigation lights.

These are the minimums. Suitable anchor and line, bailing pump, compass, proper flotation, first aid kit, and signal flares are items that common sense demands. Custom dictates that you use heavy duty good quality hardware and accessories that will not rust, and that you keep them and your boat in top condition.

Operation—piloting rules available from the Coast Guard are reprinted and diagrammed in many boating books. They tell when powerboats or sailboats have the right of way when meeting or passing and point out boating customs. Large commercial craft, for example, need much water to stop or turn and are traditionally given wide berth by smaller craft no matter who has the legal right of way. Small sailboat skippers also should practice away from busy channels even though they have the right over power.

A skipper must know he is responsible for the waves he leaves behind, and if his wash should damage or swamp a small craft at anchor he can be held legally liable. Passing close to sailboat can cause a wave that will spill the air out of her sails, and few forms of ignorance can earn a new boatman more quickly hatred.

Every boat owner must know he is required to aid any vessel in distress, must not dump garbage overboard in harbors, must learn basic skills so that he can anchor securely without fouling other boats, tie knots that will hold but can still be untied when wet, how to approach and tie up to a dock or another boat.

The skipper is responsible for proper safety aboard; life jackets on children, no dangerous horseplay, correct fueling procedure, and the operation of the boat no matter who steers.

The beginner should first require information and instruction from his boat salesmen. His insurance broker can advise him of the protection necessary against collision and fire, storms and injury of passengers and other boats.

Good books are available from libraries and book stores. "Protecting You and Your Boat," Ziff-Davis, details the legal liabilities of boating. Chapman's classic "Piloting, Seamanship, and Small Boat Handling," Shetler's "Standard Handbook of Pleasure Boats," "The Able Seaman" by Morris, and "The Small Boat Guide" by Crowther are all excellent source books. Best bargain and a must is the Coast Guard's "Recreational Boating Guide CG-340" which is available from the Govt. Printing Office in Washington for only 40 cents.

The U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary, U. S. Power Squadrons, Red Cross and other also give free classes.

Along with the fun of boating come responsibilities, and learning them is part of the rich tradition of the sport.

And you may deservedly drown if you don't.

Elaine Rodney Sets World Mark At Goshen Closing

Elaine Rodney, no young filly herself, won the featured $14,500 free-for-all trot at Goshen closed the 123rd year of harness racing at Historic track.

Clinch Hodges drove the aging mare to victory Friday in straight heats of 2:02 3-5 and 2:02 to take the feature on the final day of the Grand Circuit at the Goshen cradle of harness racing.

Star Gem won the secondary feature, the Orange County Cup pace, also in straight heats. Both were clocked at 2:02, with Jimmy Jordan in the sulky.

The other big event of the day was Adios Butler's failure to set a pacing record for the mile and one-sixteenth as he took the $25,000 Little Pat free-for-all at Roosevelt Raceway. "The Butler's" time, 2:07 2-5, was a full second off the world mark of Amortized set at Westbury in 1956.

An odds-on favorite, "The Butler" paid $2.60 and boosted his life-time earnings to $33,344.

At the other New York State tracks:

Saratoga Raceway—Mighty Indian, prevailed over an old rival, Floral Girl, to take the $5,000 Ticonderoga Trot in 2:03 1-5. Driven by Larry Nelson, the winner paid $8.10.

Vernon Downs—Interceptor, fourth going into the stretch, jetted forward to finish by a length in the $3,000 invitational trot. The winner's time was 2:06. He paid $9.70.

Buffalo Raceway—Bold Colby outdistanced a favored Peaches Atom in the stretch to win the $3,000 invitational trot in 2:05 1-5. Driven by Bud Gilmour, Bold Colby paid $9.60.

A constitution and by-laws were adopted, and boating and other water recreation problems were also discussed.

McKinley Draws Many Cheers In Losing Battle With Laver

By ROBERT JONES

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—Chuck McKinley, the 20-year-old tennis whiz from St. Louis packs for home and the next Davis Cup round today but leaving behind a reputation of a colorful character the Wimbledon crowds want to see again.

Chuck left a gallant attempt to break Australia's virtual stranglehold of the Wimbledon men's singles tennis title. He lost Friday in just under an hour, 6-3, 6-1, 6-4, to Rod Laver, the Australian who became the third left-hander to win a Wimbledon since the war.

Chuck was the first native-born American to figure in a singles final since Tony Trabert won back in 1955.

Down Fighting

Chuck never stood much chance against Laver, runnerup for the past two years. But he went down fighting with all guns blazing as the capacity center court crowd stood and cheered him.

And for the chunky little mathematics student at Trinity University, Tex., the cheers showed he had won his hard fight back after his suspension following the United States' inter-zone Davis Cup final series against Italy in Australia last winter.

But even if Chuck did give U.S. tennis prestige a boost from the low point of the past two years, there isn't much else in today's finals programs for Americans to cheer at—apart from those two trim Californians, Karen Hantze and Billie Jean Moffitt.

Karen, from Chula Vista and Billie Jean, from Long Beach were the only ones carrying the American flag today. They met the Australian girls Jan Lehane and Margaret Smith in the final of the women's doubles.

Three From 1903 Academy Class Have Lunch Here

Charles H. Lane, of New Rochelle, formerly of this city, attended a luncheon at the Governor Clinton Hotel Friday with two members of the former Kingston Academy Class of 1903.

Others attending were Mrs. Grace Keele, of 258 Lucas Avenue and Mary A. Schaeffer, of 85 Clinton Avenue, former librarian at Kingston library.

Lane, former president of the New Rochelle Board of Education and a member of the board many years, and attorney with offices at 60 John Street, New York City, is staying at Governor Clinton Hotel, a guest of his brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Warren F. Lane, of Huntington, L.I.

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Fighting broke out Friday night as Trujillo supporters struck back at leftists who staged the first anti-government demonstration in the Dominican Republic in 31 years.

Followers of slain dictator Generalissimo Rafael Trujillo invaded the headquarters of the opposition Dominican Popular Movement, wrecked the furniture and set the building afire.

The clashes erupted in the center of the capital.

The outbreaks occurred during the first day of open opposition political activity permitted by the successors of the dictator.

President Joaquin Balaguer had pledged more freedom and political reforms after Trujillo's assassination May 30.

The Trujillo backers, carrying a huge picture of the dictator, marched on DPM headquarters a few hours after a mob attacked and burned the pro-government Radio Caribe.

DPM members, armed with guns, rushed out against the invaders and destroyed the picture. Police and firemen rushed to the scene.

Police called the attack a "little reprisal" for the anti-Trujillo demonstrations.

The fresh outbreak came after an estimated 8,000 students, workers and women armed with lighted candles rushed from a political rally at Colon Park and attacked Radio Caribe.

Police fired into the mob of stone-throwing invaders and drove them off, but the radio station, set afire with gasoline, burned down.

At least six persons were wounded and some 20 arrested.

For three hours before starting their rampage, the demonstrators listened to speeches at the rally.

The U.S. Constitution stipulates that in order to become president a candidate must be at least 35 years of age.

Business Week in Review

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Business got off to slow start down the 1961 second-half trail during the week. Nevertheless, hopes of improvement in the next six months held high.

The Fourth of July holiday and the usual summer slackening of business activity combined to put on the brakes.

Steel, Autos Dip

Steel and automobile production dropped off.

Output in the steel industry dipped for the sixth straight week. June production was about 8.5 million tons, down around 500,000 tons from May.

With steel orders from the automobile industry off because of approaching model changeovers, July figures are expected to be about 10 per cent below June. The number of people working reached a new peak of 68.7 million in June, up 1.9 million over a month earlier.

Stock Sales Drop

Sales on the New York Stock Exchange in the latest week dropped to 11,964,700 shares from 13,554,210 the week before. Bond sales this week on the stock exchange totaled $26,799,000 (par value) against $25,435,400 a week earlier.

This, of course, is predicated on the anticipation that there will be no auto strike. Negotiations between the automobile companies and the United Auto Workers Union are proceeding at an uneventful pace.

Output of cars during the week dropped to an estimated 86,000 units, compared with 125,395 the previous week. Only one more full week of 1961 model production remains.

Firms Optimistic

In the first six months of this year, 2,736,719 cars were built, off 28.2 per cent from the 3,809,476

Liz, Eddie Going To Red Film Festival

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actress Elizabeth Taylor and husband Eddie Fisher will represent the United States at the Moscow Film Festival.

A spokesman said Friday they will fly to the Soviet capital Sunday, remaining there a few days.

The couple was asked by the U.S. State Department and the U.S. Information Agency to attend the festival, the spokesman said.

The festival began Thursday.

Amendments Give Men Earlier SS Benefit Rights

The new amendments to the social security law, signed by President Kennedy last week, give men early benefit rights similar to those women have had since 1956.

This has been pointed out by George Johnson, manager of the Kingston Social Security District office, 61 Albany Avenue.

The change applies to men between 62 and 65 years of age, he said, and is designed especially to help those who are unable to find employment because of their age or poor health.

A man now 62 to 65 years of age can start receiving benefits with the month of August. But if he retires before he reaches age 65, the monthly amount of benefit paid to him is reduced. He will continue to be paid the reduced amount even after he reaches 65.

Are Not Reduced

Dependent widowers and the dependent fathers of workers who have died also can get benefits at age 62. Their benefits, like those of widows and dependent mothers, are not reduced.

For men who retire early, the amount by which their benefits will be reduced depends on the number of months for which they will receive benefits while still under 65. A worker who retires and claims his benefits as soon as he reaches 62 will qualify for 80 percent of the amount that would be payable to him at age 65 based on his average earnings up until his retirement. If he waits until he is 63, he will get 86 2/3 percent of his full benefit; and if he waits until 64, the amount will be 93 1/3 percent.

The reductions are figured so that a person may expect to receive, on the average, about the same amount if he takes reduced benefits beginning before he is 65, or waits until 65.

About Dependents

Members of the immediate family of a retired worker can get dependents' benefits if the worker retires at 62 or if he waits. Eligible dependents include a wife 62 or older, or a wife at any age if she has in her care children, who are eligible for benefits. The child of a retired worker is eligible if he is under age 18 or if he has been totally disabled since childhood.

The Committee on Finance of the Senate, in recommending this change in the law, said "The provision of benefits at age 62 for men will help to alleviate the hardships faced by that group of men who, because of ill health, automation, or other technological change, are forced into premature retirement before age 65."

For more information about this change in the law and the other changes made by the new amendments to the law, people may ask their nearest social security office for a free copy of Leaflet No. 1. Men 62 to 65 years old who decide to take their social security benefits now instead of waiting can also apply for those benefits at their social security office.

Real Estate Man Has To Pay Children $6,000

AUBURN, N. Y. (AP)—A court has ordered a real estate salesman to pay back approximately $6,000 that had been bequeathed by his mother to his children but which he used himself.

Judge Gerald S. Hewitt of Cayuga County Court Friday ordered John Shwaryk, 43, to pay back the money at the rate of $100 a month.

The judge also sentenced Shwaryk to 1-5 years in prison on the first-degree grand larceny conviction but suspended sentence pending repayment.

Shwaryk used the money to make mortgage and tax payments.

Ravena Driver Loses Life in 9W Crash

RAVENA, N. Y. (AP) — John Dahl, 49, a school-bus driver of Ravena, was killed Friday when his automobile and a tractor-trailer collided on Route 9W, Ravena.

Business inventories at the end of May totaled $91.3 billion, a gain of $100 million in a month.

Briefly around the business scene: Commonwealth Edison Co. of Chicago plans to spend $720 million for equipment and construction of generating facilities in the next five years. Drive-in theaters have increased from 1,200 in 1949 to 5,140 while indoor theaters have declined from 17,000 to 11,200. The Flying Tiger line is scheduled to put into service this month an airplane capable of hauling 65,000 pounds of cargo.
